THOSE GAMBLING CASES.

Who Paid the Cost?—Statements of Officials at Variance.

In our rounds yesterday afternoon for news we called at 'Squire Eckel's office and asked him what disposition was made of the gambling cases which were to have been heard before him the previous afternoon. His answer was that there was not sufficient evidence to convict the defendants and he dismissed the cases at the complainant's cost.

The warrants were sworn out by Constable David Scott, and he was, therefore, the complainant We immediately hunted up Mr. Scott, and asked him what became of the cases. His answer was that the matter "was fixed up in some way, by the men paying the costs." Here we were confronted by varying statements, and we again called on 'Squire Eckel to learn if we understood him aright. He reiterated his first statement that the cases were dismissed at the complainant's cost.

We then asked Mr. Eckel the question: "Who is the complainant?" He answered: "Mr. David Scott."

"Did Mr. Scott pay the costs?" We asked.

"Yes," replied the 'squire.

"How much was it?" we inquired.

"Oh, about five or six dollars," he replied.

This got the matter in a worse tangle, and we saw Mr. Scott the second time. He positively denied being taxed with the cost, and said, instead, he was paid the sum of $14, part of his costs in the case, and that he should have received $18 70 He says the compromise was made with 'Squire Eckel and that he had nothing to do with it, and did not know the terms of it, but that the money was paid to 'Squire Eckel and the 'squire paid him. Mr. Scott further says that witnesses were duly and properly summoned and that not one of them was examined.

While thinking about the peculiar and rather unusual state of affairs, we saw Solicitor A. L. Brooks and stated the above facts to him with a view of obtaining a legal opinion as to the law and the proper procedure in such cases by justices of the peace. Mr. Brooks said:

"Whenever a warrant is issued by a justice of the peace upon an affidavit charging an offence within the exclusive jurisdiction of the superior court, that no justice has a right to try and finally dispose of the case without first having evidence offered on the part of the state. That in all cases which a justice dismisses, it is unlawful for him to tax the defendant with any cost, and that such a practice, if pursued, renders the justice himself liable to indictment for malfeasance in office."

Mr. Brooks further stated that frequent complaints had been made to him of misconduct on the part of officers and that if such practices were continued he should call the attention of the grand jury to the same.

Looking at this matter, however, from the statement of the justice he would have to adjudge the prosecution frivolous and malicious in order to tax the complainant with the cost and Mr. Scott says he paid nothing, but on the other hand was paid something. The question then is: Who paid the cost? If the defendants paid it is the matter legally settled, and is this the proper way to uphold law and order?

Yesterday morning one of the boys at the trunk factory decided to have some fun and hung out a sign on Main street in front of the building with the following inscription: "Black Cats Wanted!" By three o'clock in the evening a dozen or more boys, with as many cats under their arms invaded the place in answer to the advertisement. But—sad to relate!—not one of the cats was bought. White spots appeared on all of them—they were not black! Pretty tough on the would be sellers after such a hard chase.

Quite an interesting passenger was at the depot this morning. He was J. H. Hughes, of Reidsville. In speaking of the train being late it reminded him of early days in railroading, several years before the civil war began. He was the first passenger that ever came from Lexington to High Point. It was through the kindness of Conductor Sumner that he was permitted to do so. For awhile the road only extended as far as Lexington and one had to get off there and take the stage coach through to Danville in order to go north. He had just come up from below Charlotte and was going north the day the first run was to be made from Lexington to High Point Mr. Hughes said he was never treated better in his life than the night he stopped over here. High Point was then a small country village.

THE TRAIN TOO FAST.

Narrow Escape of Mr. P. H. Hanes this Morning.

The well known tobacco manufacturer, Mr. P. H. Hanes, of Winston, had an experience here this morning that was exciting, at least to the spectators, but he seemed perfectly cool. He was enroute to Asheville, and as No. 37 pulled out he attempted to get aboard. He was carrying an umbrella and a valise and made a pass at one or two of the Pullman vestibuled cars, but the outer doors were closed. The last coach, however, was open. Seeing this he handed his grip to Mr. John W. King to throw on for him and grabbed the railing at the front end of the coach. The speed was much greater than he thought and he was jerked off his feet. He struggled to get up but failed and was dragged several feet.

A time or two his legs swung far under the coach and spectators held their breath. When he turned loose he was swinging far enough away to fall out from the train on the platform. Just as he fell Mr. King threw the valise at the rear platform, but missed it and the grip rolled over on the track. An old trainman said the train was making about fifteen miles an hour.

It was a most miraculous escape, as Mr. Hanes said he was unhurt, except slight bruises sustained in falling. He boarded the next train, due in a few minutes, and went on his journey. But those who witnessed the incident shudder on thinking about it.

THE PEOPLE OF THE SOUTH

Are Generally Opposed to the Expansion Policy.

A NORFOLK, VA., DELEGATION

Will Try to Induce Some of the Ships Visiting at the Dewey Reception to Come to Norfolk.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Sept. 22—Private John Allen, of Mississippi, is in the city. He arrived here Wednesday on business before the executive departments, which will keep him in the city for several days. He is registered at the Hotel Chamberlin, which is his usual stopping place while in Washington.

Mr. Allen was seen the other day, and notwithstanding his defeat for the United States senatorship, which he acknowledges gracefully, he is in his usual frame of mind, and to all appearances is not at all worried over his political prospects. Congressman Allen acknowledges that Governor McLaurin will come to the United States senate, and as this is the apparent will of the sovereign people of the state of Mississippi, he submits to the decision without protest. Mr. Allen is pleased with the political as well as the business future of the southern states. He says that the people are, as a rule, opposed to the expansion policy of the administration, and that with the annexation of the Philippines as an issue, it will be impossible for the Republicans to carry for McKinley next year a single southern state. The people of Mississippi, says the representative, are for free coinage and the state will send a solid delegation to the next national convention.

Mr. Allen says that the business outlook of the south and in particular of the Gulf states, is bright. Agriculturists are contented, and the prospects are for a good crop this season. Manufacturing industries, he says, are springing up all over the south, and the people generally are looking forward to good times.

Mr. Allen thinks that the coming session of congress will be a lively one. Aside from national questions, he hopes to see some important river and harbor improvements authorized this session. As all of the minority members of the river and harbor committee come from the south, and mostly from the Gulf states, that section will be in a position to accomplish much, it is thought, in case river and harbor legislation is decided upon at the coming session of congress.

Several southern people are in the city looking after state patronage. Among them is a delegation from Mississippi, and another from Alabama. The former consists of James Hill and District Attorney Lee, republican leaders of the state of Mississippi, who are here in the interest of the vacancy to the United States marshalship caused by the death of Marshal Cook. It is said they have recommended Mr. Leveritt for the appointment, and the delegation are confident that the president will recognize their faction. The opposing faction, it is announced also have a candidate for the marshalship.

Mr. Vaughn, republican state chairman of Alabama, with Colonel Youngblood, the national committeeman, of Alabama, were at the white house the other day. Is is said that Ex-chief Justice of Samoa, Chambers, will be appointed judge of the middle Alabama district to succeed Judge Bruce, who it is announced will retire shortly on account of age. It is said Mr. Vaughn also consulted President McKinley about several other Alabama places which are vacant.

The impression is among southern people in Washington that it will not be long before several good appointments at the disposal of the president, in the south, are announced from the white house.

Hon. T. C. Pilcher, a member of the Virginia legislature, from Midland, Virginia, is in the city. He was stopping at the Metropolitan hotel Thursday morning, but did not remain in the city long.

A delegation of Norfolk gentlemen are in the city for the purpose of requesting the navy department to order some of the ships which are to assemble at New York for the Dewey reception, to Hampton Roads.

Senator Martin, of Virginia, is in the city on departmental business. He says his re-election to the senate by the next Legislature is assured.

Hon. William A. Guthrie and J. C. Mitchie, of North Carolina, are in the city for a few days. They came over from Durham, and are stopping at the Metropolitan hotel.

M'KINLEY'S WAR.

The Anti-Imperialist League, of Boston, which has been in session this week, lays at the door of the President of the United States a grave and terrible accusation. In its deliberations, the League frees from responsibility and blame for our war upon the Filipinos every political party in the country, while William McKinley is charged with individually precipitating this trouble beyond the seas, which has cost so many precious lives by wounds and disease contracted in uncongenial climates; which has cost millions of dollars, and which, before the end is seen, will have cost untold billions.

On December 21, 1898, at a time when the United States was solemnly bound by protocol to preserve the status quo, Mr. McKinley deliberately and untowardly declared war against the Filipinos. His act was bitterly averse to the great body of the people, who love and believe in the examples of our forefathers and the traditions of the nation, in which honor and safety has been found.

This is truly McKinley's own war. The great masses are supported in their repugnance to his imperialism by the greatest minds, the leading thinkers, of the nation. And it will not go down in history that America, in the twilight of the nineteenth century, deserted the Monroe doctrine, the doctrine of our fathers, and reached out the grasping, cringing talons of conquest. Let it not be written that the United States did that.

We want an American to fill henceforth the chair of the chief executive. Not such a weak, vacillating instrument in the hands of designing and unconscionable men as McKinley—who, at the helm, is liable to guide the ship of state to the rocks of destruction.

Anent the newspaper reports of Rev. Mr. Hodgin's recent evangelism in Greensboro, Dr. Ivey, in the Raleigh Christian Advocate, has quite a lengthy article discussing the deplorable practice of indulging in hilarity in the pulpit. We extract from the article the following:

We are sorry for the "laughing preacher." We are sorry for those to whom he is in the habit of ministering. God wants, in His pulpit, no buffoonery, attended by hysterical demonstrations of lunacy. Such things as the "holy laugh" and the "holy dance" are more symptomatic of cerebral derangement than indicative of wealth in holiness. Imagine St. Paul, or any other man carrying the burden of Christ's kingdom, cutting such antics! After our observation of such sporadic excrescences as have been developed in the last few years in the Old North State, we cannot honestly expect to enjoy an immunity from the last named nuisance. We are afraid that it will spread, and that in a few months our Jeremiahs will in disgust leave the field to the laughing evangel.

We cannot emphasize too strongly the necessity of every preacher having what is called "a concern for souls." Christ had it, and, when He spoke to dying men and women, His words throbbed with a mighty pathos. Paul had it, and his tense earnestness lives in his wonderful writings, and we can almost see the tear stains on the printed page. God gives his preachers places where the heart can break forth into blossom, and the face can wear the sunshine of smiles. But in the pulpit where eternities meet, and the immortal soul looks into the face of destiny, the issues are too grave to be veneered with desecrating mirth.

The Louisville Courier-Journal, commenting on the Cartersville, Ill., massacre, says facetiously:

The press correspondent who sent out the account of the Cartersville, Ill., riot is an artist. According to him the negroes began the shooting at the whites and kept it up, but killed nothing but themselves. Evidently those negroes entered the town, which had drawn a dead line against them, for the soul purpose of committing suicide.

Our esteemed neighbor, Charity and Children, up at Thomasville, has reached us in an enlarged form, upon which we congratulate Brother Johnson, the editor. The enlargement was made last week, but we failed to receive a copy. It was good before. It is better now. There is no better edited paper in the state than Charity and Children, or that prints a higher, purer, more elevating class of news.

One of the fellows now arraigned at the "bar of justice" in France for high treason is M. Buffet. It is presumed that the gentlemen will be well buffeted when "justice" gets through with him.

Love and Life.

Should life be all a garland
Of sweet and thornless flowers,
Grown in a fairy far-land,
Of unbeclouded hours?
Ah! no; let thorns together
With fragrant flowers entwine;
That so I prove thee whether
We share the sweets together,
And all the thorns be mine.

Should life be all an ocean
Of rapture-rippled tides,
Whereon in mazy motion
The south wind softly glides?
Ah! no; let storms together
With rosy calms combine;
That so in wild-wind weather,
As we sail on together,
My heart may shelter thine.

Should life be all a measure
Of golden-girdled sound,
Wherein no briefest leisure
For minor tones be found?
Ah! no; let minor meanings
Amid its music be,
That so Love's intervenings
May store all sadder gleanings,
And share the sweets with thee.

A Wonderful Cure of Diarrhoea.

A prominent Virginia editor had almost given up, but was brought back to perfect health by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. Read his editorial. From the Times, Hillstille, Va.

I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but noticing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy and also some testimonials stating how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this remedy, I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well of that trouble, and I wish to say further to my readers and fellow-sufferers that I am a hale and hearty man today and feel as well as I ever did in my life.—O. UNBALANCED BY GRIEF.

Sad History of John Waters of Wilkes County.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 21—It was reported that John Waters, of Wilkes county, who was carried to Raleigh last week by Sherriff Johnson, and left in the insane department of the penitentiary, killed a man a few years ago. This is said to be a mistake. His son was killed a few years ago, but the father has never been implicated in a murder scrape.

John Waters is about sixty-five years of age. It is learned that when about twenty years old he fell in love with a young lady named Dula. There was serious objection on the part of her parents, and John was forbidden to visit his sweetheart. This seemed to disturb his mind seriously. It is stated that his father had to chain him in the house and kept him chained for a year or more. The son came to himself, seemingly, and he afterwards married a Miss Church. They lived happily together until death claimed the wife. The husband then lost his mind again and has not been right since. The death of his son recently added fury to his madness. His two great hobbies are a mania for marrying and a belief that he is the chief commander of the army. He was not considered dangerous until last year. —Special to Post

REMORSE.

A STROKE OF GENIUS.

It Elicited the Unbounded Admiration of the Farmer.

Only a few summers ago, among the many others that visited the wild region adorned by one of Michigan's inland lakes, was an artist. He had a wealth of scenery from which to select and chose a picturesque view with a hill of rocks and jack pines as a background. The owner of the property transferred to canvas did not think much of the enterprise or of the man who would dawdle away his time in such an undertaking, but the artist paid the summer rates without a murmur and never entered any complaints against the accommodations. The next season the painter was again among the guests.

"How did that there picter of yours come out, anyhow?" asked the curious landlord.

"Oh, fairly well. You know that I have my name to make yet. I sold it for $1,000."

"No," exclaimed the farmer excitedly, "not $1,000. You're chaffin me."

"Not a bit of it," laughed the artist. "I got $1,000 for that little view before there was a frame on it."

"Shake, stranger. I allus thought I was purty slick on a dicker, but I'll be doggone if you don't take the prize. You skinned that feller slick and clean."

"How so?" indignantly, for his pride was touched.

"Oh, don't play innercent with me. It won't go no further. But you done him brown. A thousand fur that spot where you couldn't raise a bean to the acre! If the critter that bought that picter had seen me, I'd a sold him the hull durn farm for $275."—Detroit Free Press.

In the Tap Root of an Oak.

I remember a curious incident connected with the tap root of an oak. This oak, a good tree of perhaps 200 years' growth, was being felled at Bradenham wood when the woodmen called attention to something peculiar on the tap root. On clearing this of soil we found that the object was a horseshoe of ancient make. Obviously in the beginning an acorn must have fallen into the hollow of this cast shoe, and as it grew through the slow generations the root filled up the circle, carrying it down into the earth in the process of its increase till at length we found wood and iron thus strangely wedded. That tap root with the shoe about it is now or used to be a paperweight in the vestibule of Bradenham Hall.—Rider Haggard in Longman's Magazine.

Discovered by a Woman

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1 00. Every bottle guaranteed.

A Word to Mothers.

Mothers of children affected with croup or a severe cold need not hesitate to administer Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It contains no opiate nor narcotic in any form and may be given as confidently to the babe as to an adult. AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

North Carolina Is to Be Represented by an Exhibit.

North Carolina is to have its representation among the exhibits at the Paris Exposition despite the Dreyfus case.

Under the regulations and on account of the great demand for space from the whole world, no separte space for exhibits will be assigned to the several states of the Union, but each can send exhibits if it so desires and they will be displayed in the space allotted to the several departments of industry of the United States.

Secretary T. K Bruner, of the board of agriculture, has been corresponding with the national authorities who control the space allotted to the United States. He has secured space for this state in the departments of agriculture, horticulture, mining and fisheries. He is now corresponding with parties throughout the state with a view to making up the exhibits for these several departments.

The matter, it will be remembered, was discussed at the last meeting of the board of agriculture, but action was postponed. It will be taken up again at the approaching meeting and it is hoped that a suitable appropriation may be secured for the purpose

It will be the purpose of those preparing the exhibit to make North Carolina come out prominently among the other states in all the several lines of exhibits.—News and Observer.

Oh, the Pain of Rheumatism!

Rheumatism often causes the most intense suffering. Many have for years vainly sought relief from this disabling disease, and are to-day worse off than ever. Rheumatism is a blood disease, and Swift's Specific is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which can reach such deep-seated diseases.

A few years ago I was taken with inflammatory Rheumatism, which became so intense that I was for weeks unable to walk. I tried several prominent physicians and took their treatment faithfully, but was unable to get the slightest relief. In fact, my condition seemed to grow worse, the disease spread over my entire body, and from November to March I suffered agony. I tried many patent medicines, but none relieved me. Upon the advice of a friend I decided to try S. S. S. Before allowing me to take it, however, my guardian, who was a chemist, analyzed the remedy, and pronounced it free of potash or mercury. I felt so much better after taking two bottles, that I continued the remedy, and in two months I was pronounced completely cured. My cure was permanent, for I have never since had a touch of Rheumatism though many times exposed to damp and cold weather.

GREAT FIRE AT NORFOLK.

Four Burned to Death, Two of Whom Were North Carolinians.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 21—Four lives were lost in the great fire which destroyed the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital early this morning. The remains were taken from the debris and removed to the city morgue today for identification, proving to be as follows:

Mrs. Margaret McEween, about 70 years of age, a lady of week mind, who was there for safe keeping. The only way she could be identified was by her ear rings, the body being so badly burned.

Mrs. Elizabeth White, an old lady who had been at the hospital for a long time as a boarder. She was on the fourth floor and the body had fallen through to the third. She was identified by the structure of her body.

Cherry Boswell, a three-year-old child from Lewiston, N. C, who had a club foot and was there for treatment.

Miss Pippin, of North Carolina, who had just entered the hospital, and was to have been operated upon today. The body was found in the ruins of the bed in which she slept. Miss Pippin was from Tarboro, North Carolina.

The injured are:

Fireman Thomas A. Barrett, of the Queen street engine house, left leg broken, right arm fractured in three places and cut on forehead. He is still alive but has not regained consciousness, and little hope of his recovery is entertained.

Fireman Robert A A. Foster, driver, hurt about the head, but not seriously.

Barrett, Foster and several other firemen had run a line of hose through the main entrance of the building, and were driven out either by the fire and smoke or by by the premonition of an impending collapse above them Had they remained in the porch they would not have been injured at all, but as they went down into the yard from the front steps a mass of timber, brick wall, etc., pitched out and down from above upon them. The mass that fell upon the firemen is said to have been a water tank that was located in that part of the building for the purpose of running the elevator.

Miss Kate Dolan, of Washington, D. C., one of the nurses of the institution, was also injured. She jumped through the stair well from the third story to the first, landing in a sitting position at the feet of sister Bernard, the sister superior, who happened at at that point just at that moment She was hurt about the neck, hands and back, and is considerably injured

Miss Teresa Glass, of Richmond, Virginia, also a nurse. She was badly burned about one hand and foot and slightly about the face. She was carried to a residence on Wood street.

STRONG TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

The Three Allied Features of Southern Development.

Baltimore, Sept. 21—Reviewing the industrial conditions of the south, The Manufacturers' Record says:

"Three allied features of southern development have at present more prominence than usual. They are railroad construction, iron production and lumbering. Iron advancing in price one dollar within a week in the southern market, and its manufacture being accompanied by great activity in the building of dwellings for operatives and coke ovens where hundreds of other men will have employment, naturally dominates public attention. The harvest for which men who know the resources of the south and who could look into the future beyond a year or two, have been preparing, is now beginning to be gathered, and its reaping, according to the present prospect, must continue with an increase in the equipment for converting ores into marketable products of iron and steel more or less advanced. To reach the raw material railroads are being extended, or new lines are being constructed, adding, of course, to the demand for the metals. At the same time the great systems of the south are planning to strengthen themselves by extensions, by the substitution of heavier rails for light ones, and by adding to their rolling stock. This betterment is in part to meet necessities of the movement of grain toward the South Atlantic and Gulf ports for which the railroads reaching Charleston, Pensacola, Mobile, New Orleans, Galveston and other cities are preparing.

"In connection with these efforts on the part of railroads to lead to export grain toward the gulf is the movement for the development of the timber resources of the South, by which trains will have freight on their return trips. The rapid disappearance of the timber supplies in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan has already induced greater activity in southern lumbering, and there are many railroad extensions under way to meet the increasing demand for lumber. Prominent among these is the extension of the Gulf, Beaumont & Kansas City Railway into the long leaf yellow pine region in South and Eastern Texas. During the present fifteen years, according to a Houston correspondent of the Manufacturers' Record, it is estimated that about 65 per cent. of the original forest in nine counties of that section has been cut away. The remaining timber between the Neches and Sabine rivers, not controlled by large lumber companies has, according to this letter, been acquired by Mr John H. Kirby, who is engaged in extending the railroad through the forest, and it is calculated that between 1,200,000 and 1,600,000 acres of timber land will be thereby developed. The yellow pine predominates, though there is also a large amount of oak, ash and hickory. Mr. Kirby's object in buying up this land was to enable his railroad to have a business immediately upon its completion. He argued that if lands were owned by individuals they might be held at speculative values, and consequently, that the traffic of the road as well as the development of the country, would be retarded. Controlling both the road and the timber he can bid individuals to erect mills at once. All the mills in that region are at present running on full time or over time, as the constantly increasing demand for all classes and grades of pine lumber exceeds the supply.

Additions to the use of iron and steel now being constantly made might cause apprehension that timber will become of less importance than formerly. Such apprehension, however, has not affected the South, and there is no reason apparent why it should do so in the near future. The demand for lumber covers the whole South, and timber lands are advancing in value quite rapidly. Along the South Atlantic seaboard shipments of lumber have wonderfully increased, and the indications are plentiful that the coming year will be marked by greater development. Manufacturers and investors generally are buying up immense tracts of timber land in the North Carolina and Georgia pine belts, and are erecting mills by the score for the immediate development of the properties. Along the various railroads penetrating southern and southwestern timber lands lumbermen are anxiously reaching out too for hardwood timber, and as Kentucky and Tennessee lands are coming rapidly into the market, Virginia, West Virginia, the Carolinas and Florida are opening up rich forests abounding in the woods of commerce. At the gulf ports exporters are preparing for a season of activity, and with the present facilities for giving tonnage quick dispatch a large increase in the volume of business is expected.

In the phosphate fields steady progress is making in opening up new deposits. This is not confined to the new regions in Tennessee, for great activity also prevails in Florida, where smaller pockets are developed upon a system of temporary railroad tracks and plants moved from place to place, as the supply becomes exhausted.

The building of cotton mills, of wood working establishments and of structures for a variety of minor industries continues.—Special to the Raleigh Post.

Yellow Jaundice Cured

Suffering humanity should be supplied with ezery means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from yellow jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours. M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

A Negro Swindle Suppressed.

Washington, Sept. 21—The postoffice department issued an order debarring from the mails the matter issued by the Ex-Slave Mutual Relief, Bounty and Pension Association, with headquarters at Nashville, Tenn. The ostensible object of the association is to secure pensions for ex-slaves. The bills providing for such pensions which were introduced in the last congress were used as a basis for circulars in which it was represented that the suggested explanation was far advanced. Meetings were held in various places, always ending, it is alleged by the postoffice officials, in an appeal for money to advance the work in hand.

Fair summer is ebbing. Alas! alack!
Oh, would that the sunny days could last;

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

G. M. Rose, of Fayetteville, was here today.

Mrs. Julia P. Dick left last night for New York.

See what Harry-Belk Bros. Co. have to say in their space today about bargains.

Mr. Hoyt, of the Danville opera house, came over last night to cancel the date with the Southern Minstrels.

Delicious eatables told of in Hudson's ad today. Anything you want. All kinds of nice, fresh vegetables, chickens, eggs, meats, etc.

The Washington Post gives an extended notice of the marriage of Dr. H. W. Silly, of Fayetteville, to Miss Hester Virginia Calvert, of Maryland.

At this writing, according to the almanac, the days and nights are equal in length. Yesterday was the equinox, and we may expect the storm to come along in a few days.

A party of fox hunters will leave this city on Tuesday for the open, level country around Manchester to indulge in the exhilarating and enlivening sport of chasing Reynard.

About sixteen recruits left on 36 today for Jefferson Barracks, Missouri. They were in charge of John Chapman, formerly sergeant in the Winston company of the First North Carolina regiment.

There was a small freight wreck near the Pomona Terra Cotta Works last night. A car loaded with shale from Madison broke in two and two or three other cars were demolished. No one was hurt.

With four passenger trains lined up at the Elm street station at one time the scene is a busy and business one. There is not a town in the state that can equal Greensboro for first-class passenger service.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Mary A. Hiatt is critically ill at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. J. J. Fountain, on Bragg street. Mrs. Hiatt is the mother of Mrs. M. Vuncanon and of Mr. R. G. Hiatt, of the firm of Hiatt & Lamb.

Burglars attempted to enter the house of Mrs. W. R. Murray, on Asheboro street, last night. There were two of them and they were fired upon and frightened away by Charles Murray. It is not known whether either of them was hit.

According to the katydid theory this morning was the time when there should have been frost. It was almost cold enough, if not quite, for frost, but ye local was later than the sun in rising and did not see any. At any rate the katydid business is not far off this time.

THE MINSTREL SHOW.

The "Great" Southerns at the Academy Last Night.

The new scenery at the Academy of Music, just put in by the Messrs. McAdoo, was, to us, the most attractive thing of the performance of the Great Southern Minstrels last night. The music was not above the average, the jokes were a rehash of old ones, the singing was only "moderate" and the whole thing lacked snap. Some of the songs, perhaps, deserve more than is said above, the Capital City Quartette acquitting themselves with credit. There were few encores, and toward the close the crowd, which was large, began to grow weary.

The shrill whistling and yelling contingent, which is always present in the galleries became so disgusting that one respectable colored man got up and left.

Messrs. McAdoo deserve credit for the marked improvement in the Academy and with good shows they will have a prosperous season.

Drunk, Perhaps Robbed.

A man was found by the police this morning drunk and down in the rear of McDuffie's furniture store. From letters in his pockets it appears his name is A. A. Knight and his residence Charlotte. Two white men and a colored man were seen holding him in a suspicious way. The police are unable to learn the particulars till the effects of the debauch have worn off.

The Link Completed.

The Southern's new "link" here connecting the Mt. Airy-Sanford Division with the main line, has been completed and today the train from Mt. Airy stopped at the new depot. It was quite an interesting event and a good sized crowd were attracted.

HIKIYI, THE BIG SNAKE.

An Experience a Telegram Man Had at Robinson's Show.

Seeing the announcement that John Robinson's show is booked for a neighboring town recalls a little experience a Telegram man had at the aforesaid show. As the big show was breaking up a man with a face like a Dreyfus verdict and voice to match announced that Hikiyi, the big snake, would eat the live goat in the side show. In the innocence of a sweet and trusting nature the credulous journalist went in to see what objections the goat might raise to the lunch business. After waiting an hour or more to see the fun, the fact that the snake was dead and stuffed finally penetrated the density of the Telegram man's head. The goat has a cinch on life as far as that particular snake is concerned.

Kimball Piano Notes.

We appreciate a letter which we have just received from Dr. John H.
